

Something Special

Objective: Highlight an item of importance to you. Feature what makes it so special and the things you love about it. The goal of this activity is to show if the candidate is able to follow directions, actively listen, passionately talk about the best parts of an item (like on tour when talking about USC), presentation skills, and if they read the whole email.

Instructions: In the Something Special activity, each of you will present something special to the group that you brought with you as was stated in your group interview email. Explain what item you brought and what makes it important to you. You will have 1 minute to talk about your item.

Items needed: Timer (candidate will bring item)
